Artifacts

Chosongo-Nihongo tangochō
item_ID: 16420
ArtifactID: 7

This is a Korean-Japanese word book or rudimentary dictionary used by Furuya Yoshiko. It is treated as an artifact rather than a regular book because of its size and condition.

Pyongyang kankō shiseki gaido
item_ID: 16418
ArtifactID: 5

This is a small guide from Takazawa’s visits to Pyongyang, written in Japanese.

Fūten Angura (Eiga no kaisetsu shōsasshi)
item_ID: 16416
ArtifactID: 3

This small booklet contains movie summaries for Fūten Angura, a counterculture magazine.

Fūten Angura sankō bunken
item_ID: 16417
ArtifactID: 4

These are file cards for Takazawa’s movie research for Fūten Angura.

Sanrizuka tōsō shīru
item_ID: 16424
ArtifactID: 10

This folder contains various small seals and stickers put out by the Sanrizuka movement opposing the construction and operation of Narita International Airport. Seals of this type were frequently produced by social movements.

Furuya kakeibo
item_ID: 16441
ArtifactID: 15

This box contains household record books from the Furuya household. There are also memos and related artifacts from the Furuya household records.

Furuya bunsho ga tsutsumareteita furoshiki
item_ID: 16426
ArtifactID: 12

This box contains two furoshiki or wrapping cloths in which some of the materials from the Aihara-Furuya subcollection were wrapped when the Takazawa Collection received them. These cloths were routinely used for wrapping and carrying items until the 1980s, when paper shopping bags became the more stylish alternative. However, many older women still use the handy furoshiki. We have left these in the collection because they may become rarer cultural artifacts in the future. These are not particularly traditional examples—one is actually a French designer cloth—but they were apparently in regular use by Furuya Yoshiko.

加藤元久インタビュー
Kato Motohisa Interview

This set of five tapes records an interview that Takazawa Kōji and a Kōdansha editor conducted with “Shonen B,” a high school student who was brought to the Rengō Sekigun camp by his older brother and was present throughout the Rengō Sekigun Incident and was eventually captured at Asama Sansō. Because he was a minor his case was handled by the juvenile court and he was not part of the Rengō Sekigun trials. He was encouraged to forget about what had happened, while the others reinforced specific recollections constantly through the trial process. In the early 1990s he consented to an interview with Takazawa Kōji, which Takazawa subsequently used for an article that was published in the magazine Gendai. These interview tapes are severely restricted and require special permission even for onsite research use. No duplication of the materials is permitted, and the highest level restrictions apply to any direct use of the material for publication.

Furuya Yoshiko Tapes / Kyōkōkon

Tape recording made by Furuya Yoshiko of a February 1983 meeting discussing “Kyōkōkon” (a joint kondankai, or gathering) and critical accounts of the Nakasone Administration. The discussion also covers movement tactics for anti-war, anti-nuclear weapon, and anti-Japan/U.S. Security Treaty protests.

Furuya Yoshiko Tapes / Josei Undō Gurūpu

This set contains two tape recordings of a women’s social movement organization made by Furuya Yoshiko. One is a recording of a symposium held by an anti-war/anti-nuclear weapon women’s group, “Onnatachi no Shimpo” or Women’s Symposium. Another is a recording of several women in a mothers’ group discussing opposition to the Kitafuji military maneuvers site in Yamanashi Pref. Item 15486 side B is a continuation of Item 15501, and in the middle goes back to the women’s symposium.

Furuya Yoshiko Tapes / Shinsayoku to Kakumei

This tape contains recordings of public speeches made by Suzuki Kunio criticizing the Left’s critique of the Emperor, and Iida Momo discussing the New Left’s activism and the role of revolution. The tapes are from the Aihara-Furuya subcollection.

Iida Momo, Suzuki Kunio
This item contains one tape from the Aihara-Furuya subcollection, with different content on the two sides. Side A is a recording of a conference “Ajia-jin Kaigi” (Asian people’s conference). Speakers from various Asian countries make speeches in English on issues such as the labor conditions in South East Asia under Japanese firms. Side B is an informal interview (interviewer/interviewee unknown) on the issue of radicals and the anti-Establishment in Japan.
This set consists of five volumes of magazine clippings, bound as books. It was originally catalogued with books, but has been cross-referenced here. Although the title refers only to Rengō Sekigun, in fact the series covers all aspects of Sekigunha and its branches through 1982. Takazawa collected the materials for the set and believes it is virtually complete for the time period. Other clipping series in the collection (#2, 3, 7, 12, 14 ) cover later time periods.

This is a set of 15 scrapbooks of newspaper clippings related to the original Sekigunha and its branches and successors. Each volume covers one or more specific events. Both the Japanese and English titles are given as they appear on the originals. This set covers the period from 1969 to 1977. Other sets (#1, 3, 7, 12, 14 ) continue the series. The set was compiled under Takazawa’s direction.

This is a separate set of Red Army related newspaper clippings, in 28 large format binders, covering the period from 1969 to 1984. All the volumes of this series carry the name “Documents de L'Armee Rouge in French on the cover, along with the time period covered. And despite the French title, the clippings are from Japanese newspapers. Unlike series #2, which seems to be event specific although roughly chronological, this set appears to be strictly chronological. See also series #1, 2, 7, 12, and 14.

This set of four volumes of clipping scrapbooks includes all Japanese newspaper coverage on the Tsuchida, Nisseki Pīsu can bomb case from 1969 through 1984. The materials were compiled under Takazawa’s direction and are arranged in chronological order.
This is a single volume scrapbook of newspaper clippings on the Takita Osamu case, covering 1971 to 1983. It was compiled under Takazawa’s direction. Takita (real name: Takemoto Nobuhiro) was an assistant professor at Kyoto University who became involved in the Kyoto University conflict. Although the details are murky, he became involved in an underground partisan group. After an attack on a self-defense force base in Saitama prefecture, known as the Sekieigun Jiken, he was put on the wanted list. He remained underground for many years but published books and sent messages to various organizational rallies from underground.

60’ Anpo tōsō essay collection I

This is a collection of photocopies of 319 journal and magazine articles concerning 1960 Ampo collected by Takazawa Kōji. It constitutes a virtually complete set of the magazine and journal articles written on the topic up to the early 1990s. Although the listing of individual items attached to this bibliography of clippings gives the titles of all the articles, we have also produced a full bibliography of these items, which is listed separately on this web site as the 1960 Ampo Journal and Magazine Article Bibliography.

"Asahi Journal" articles related to Zen Kyōtō and the Red Army Faction

This set contains twelve bound folders of articles from Asahi Journal on various topics concerning the Zenkyōtō movement and the Red Army Faction. It covers 1967 to 1979 and was compiled under Takazawa’s direction. These are original clippings, not photocopies.

赤軍派関係週刊誌記事	item_ID: 60014
Sekigun-ha kankei shukanshi kiji
Red Army Faction related weekly magazine articles

This is a set of 15 folders, some bound with covers, containing original clippings of articles related to Sekigunha and its various branches, from various weekly magazines. It covers 1967 to 1988 and thus has some pre-Sekigunha material as well.
This is a two-volume bound set of newspaper and magazine articles written by Shima Shigeo between 1959 and 1981. Shima was first head of the secretariat of the original Bund during the 1960 Aampo struggle. He later became a psychiatrist with a practice in Okinawa and was involved in the Seishin Iryō movement.

This is a set of three folders of newspaper clippings concerning the university reform movement. It covers the years 1967-1971.

Two folders of weekly magazine articles concerning Nihon Sekigun, all from 1974.

Two folders of newspaper clippings concerning the Vietnamese revolution, primarily from Sekai Kakumei, the newspaper of Dai Yon Inta Nihon Shibu.

One folder of clippings from Sekai Seiji Shiryō and Asahi Journal on the Vietnamese revolution.

This set contains fourteen folders of newspaper clippings on Okinawa from various newspapers, including the Okinawa Times and Okinawa Shinpō, and some written by various famous people.

Two folders of newspaper clippings and photocopies concerning Tanaka Seigen. Takazawa collected these when he was doing research on Tanaka Seigen. He interviewed him and also developed a complete bibliography of work by and about him. The photocopies date back to 1963, while the clippings are from 1985.

This is a complete set of the documents submitted to Tokyo District Court in the first trial of the major Rengō Sekigun defendants. Initially, Mori Tsuneo, Nagata Hiroko, Sakaguchi Hiroshi, Uegaki Yasuhiro, Bandō Kunio, Yoshino Masakuni, and Katō Tomonori were charged in this case, with Judge Ishimaru Toshihiko presiding. Mori Tsuneo committed suicide in December, 1972, and Katō and Yoshino broke with the others to join what became known as the Rengō Sekigun Split (Bunri) trial, which continued under Judge Ishimaru. The remaining defendants (Nagata, Sakaguchi, Bandō and Uegaki) were then tried in the Rengō Sekigun Unified (Tōitsu) trial. However, in 1975 Bandō was released from jail by the Japanese Red Army and went to the Middle East, while the remaining defendants continued on trial in Japan. Since the defendants in this trial changed over time, the labeling of sets of documents in terms of the "first" defendant also changed. These labels are included to help identify specific volumes, but they bear no relation to the content of the volumes, which we will annotate at a later time. These volumes contain the original evidence, including witness testimony, that was submitted in the case, including evidence against defendants later separated out, and evidence about incidents prior to the actual Rengō Sekigun and Asama Sansō incidents that were combined in the charges. Because of the nature of the materials they can only be viewed on-site, they cannot be photocopied, and names of persons other than the defendants and court personnel may not be cited, to protect the privacy of other persons. There are 82 separate bound volumes in the set.

Rengō Sekigun Jiken Tōitsu Kōhan

This set contains the decision from the first Rengō Sekigun unified trial in Tokyo district court by Judge Nakano Takeo in 1982 against remaining defendants Nagata Hiroko, Uegaki Yasuhiro, and Sakaguchi Hiroshi, and the appeals filed shortly thereafter by the three defendants in the Tokyo higher court. Although the decision pertains to the set of documents listed as Court Series #1 and the appeals trial documents are contained in Court Series #3, we have put these three documents together as a separate unit because the appeal statements refer directly to the lower court’s written decision authored by Judge Nakano.

Kyōto District Court, Criminal Section 5.

The seven volumes in this series cover the trials and retrials collectively known as the Tsuchida-Nisseki-Peace Can Bomb Incident trials. In this case, police and prosecutors erroneously linked three different bombing incidents and charged a number of people with an elaborate plot that the authorities had constructed to link the events. Under heavy interrogation and pressure, some defendants initially confessed to the parts assigned to them in the authorities' scenario. After some defendants had already been convicted and others were on trial but insisting on their innocence, the authorities' scenario began to unravel. Two people unrelated to the authorities' scenario came forward to testify that they had actually done acts for which the defendants were being tried, and provided convincing proof of their involvement. The remaining defendants on trial were found innocent and those who had already been convicted were retried and found innocent. The Takazawa Collection contains extensive materials on this case because Takazawa Kōji wrote a book about it, which is also in the collection. The final court decision is included as a separate item in the set.

Asaka Jieikan Satsugai Jiken

This case arose from an attack on the Asaka Self-Defense Force base on August 22, 1971, in which one member of the Self-Defense forces was killed. The incident is also known as the Sekieigun Incident. The attack was allegedly carried out by an underground organization called Sekieigun, and Kikui Ryōji, Arai Mitsufumi, Shimada Masanori, Yoshida Hiromi, and Andō Hiromi were arrested and tried for the murder. Kyoto University Graduate Assistant Takemoto Nobuhiro, better known by his pen-name of Takita Osamu, was thought to be associated with the group and a warrant was put out for his arrest. Takita went underground. After the initial statute of limitations ran out on the case the time limit on his arrest warrant was extended for an additional 12 years, during which time Takita began publishing articles in New Left journals while remaining underground. This led to the arrest of journalists who had been involved in the publications. However, Takita was never formally charged in the case. The Takazawa Collection contains extensive materials about both Takita and this case, in addition to the trial documents. Tokyo Higher Court is listed on the cover, but the contents mostly pertain to the first trial in Urawa District Court, suggesting that this is the set of materials from the first trial that were submitted in the appeal.

This set contains 23 documents from the first trial and appeals trial of Tomimura Jun'ichi, an Okinawan activist who was arrested for carrying out a protest at Tokyo Tower. The set contains both documents from trial sessions and other materials concerning the trial.

This set contains four documents from Sekigunha trials in 1971-72. They are minor internal documents from the court proceedings, but they shed interesting light on how the defense works in such political cases. The first concerned items seized in a search, the second and third relate to the Daibosatsu trial, and the third concerns the use of Daibosatsu testimony later when Shiomi Takaya and six others were charged with violating the Anti-Subversive Activities Law.

This folder contains five handbills from Hansen Gakusei Dōmei, a student organization of the 1950s. This group was centrally involved in the factional disputes in Zengakuren during the 1950s, and originated the theory of students as a separate sub-class, as distinct from the JCP theory that students were subsumed as part of its organization of labor youth. As the New Left split from the JCP in the late 1950s, Hansen Gakusei Dōmei grew rapidly as a campus based organization and was renamed as Shakai Gakusei Dōmei (Shagakudō) and became the main student organization affiliated with Kyōsanshugisha Dōmei (Bund).

There are three separate files in this collection, covering the early, middle, and post-1960 Ampo periods. The complete set represents all handbills that were submitted to the Tokyo University administration so that they could be posted on the campus. In that time period, virtually everything posted on the campus went through this procedure, so the collection can be considered complete. Because of the special significance of this set of materials, we have entered the title or headline of each handbill in the individual handbill listings, in addition to the date.

A collection of 56 handbills posted at Tokyo University during the peak period of the 1960 Ampo movement in 1960. There are three separate files in this collection, covering the early, middle, and post-1960 Ampo periods. The complete set represents all handbills that were submitted to the Tokyo University administration so that they could be posted on the campus. In that time period, virtually everything posted on the campus went through this procedure, so the collection can be considered complete. Because of the special significance of this set of materials, we have entered the title or headline of each handbill in the individual handbill listings, in addition to the date. In this set there are very few handbills from June, 1960, which was the climax of the campaign in which a Tokyo University student, Kamba Michiko, was killed in a demonstration. We speculate that during this period protest activity was so intense that students did not use the regular procedure for submitting handbills prior to posting on the campus.

A collection of 269 handbills posted at Tokyo University in the aftermath of the 1960 Ampo protests. There are three separate files in this collection, covering the early, middle, and post-1960 Ampo periods. The complete set represents all handbills that were submitted to the Tokyo University administration so that they could be posted on the campus. In that time period, virtually everything posted on the campus went through this procedure, so the collection can be considered complete. Because of the special significance of this set of materials, we have entered the title or headline of each handbill in the individual handbill listings, in addition to the date. This set covers the period of introspection and debate over the 1960 Ampo campaign and the lessons to be learned from it. It includes handbills reflecting the internal conflicts among student groups over how to interpret the 1960 Ampo campaign and subsequent organizational splits.

A collection of 30 political handbills from 1971 on various issues.
A collection of 8 handbills from Rōdōsha Kakumei (Workers Revolution).

A collection of 70 handbills from the Sanrizuka struggle opposing the construction of Narita International Airport.

A collection of 28 handbills concerning the labor struggle at Petri Camera company, in which the workers took over the factory and maintained production by themselves for many years while the courts considered their claims for compensation after the owners had tried to close the factory during a merger. The Takazawa Collection also contains other folders of materials concerning this case.

A collection of 35 handbills from labor movements in Okinawa.

A collection of 47 handbills concerning Vietnamese revolutionary theory.

A collection of 29 handbills from the Kyōto University student conflict.

Handbills from a campaign at Kyoto University that tried to prevent aspirants from taking the university entrance exam. The handbills include ones from the New Left groups urging people to boycott the exam, and handbills from the JCP student organization Minsei, urging them to go ahead and take the exam.

Handbills from the Zenkyōtō movement at Nihon University. This was a major, long-running conflict with many sub-conflicts. This set represents only a very small part of the handbills produced by the overall conflict.
Handbills from the Zenkyōtō movement at Kantō Gakuin University.

A collection of 18 handbills from the Zenkyōtō movement at Momoyama Gakuin University.

A collection of 16 handbills from Jiyū Rengō.

A collection of 46 handbills from the Korean unification movement and conflicts over relations between Korea and Japan during the 1980s.

A collection of 14 handbills from Moppurusha, the support group affiliated with Sekigunha during the early 1970s that handled initial support for the Sekigun side of the Rengō Sekigun Incident. The name Moppurusha derives from the Russian acronym for the support organization of the prewar Japan Communist Party. Both that organization and the postwar Sekigun-related one are also known as Sekishoku Kyūenkai, or “Red Relief.” The collection also contains some additional folder materials on Moppurusha.

A collection of 18 handbills from Nihon Kyōsan Seinen Dōmei.

A collection of 17 handbills from the Nihon University conflict in 1970.

A collection of 8 handbills from the Tokyo University Zenkyōtō movement.

A collection of 14 handbills from Moppurusha, the support group affiliated with Sekigunha during the early 1970s that handled initial support for the Sekigun side of the Rengō Sekigun Incident. The name Moppurusha derives from the Russian acronym for the support organization of the prewar Japan Communist Party. Both that organization and the postwar Sekigun-related one are also known as Sekishoku Kyūenkai, or “Red Relief.” The collection also contains some additional folder materials on Moppurusha.
A collection of 34 handbills from the Southwest Osaka Hansen Seinen Iinkai group. This group was organized by Takazawa and his associates as part of the Hansen Seinen Iinkai movements in which New Left university students helped to organize groups of young workers for the anti-war movement of the late 1960s. Students and workers participated together in many of the groups, and Hansen Seinen Iinkai units participated in many major demonstrations along with other New Left groups.

A collection of 20 handbills from the Zenkyōtō movement at Chūō University.

A collection of 23 handbills from the anti-Expo (Osaka Banpaku) movement and from regional Beheiren groups.

A small collection of handbills from the support groups for the defendants in the Tsuchida-Nisseki-Peace Can Bomb trial. In this “frame-up” case, the government created an elaborate but fictional case linking several incidents and prosecuted the wrong people. The case later unraveled when some other people responsible for specific incidents came forward, and all the defendants were later cleared. The Takazawa Collection contains many other materials from this case, including court documents and folders, because Takazawa wrote a book about it (which is also in the collection).

A collection of 20 handbills from Furuya Yoshiko’s movement activities in 1980. These are materials that were not organized into other topical collections. Also see item #33.

A collection of 24 handbills from various New Left groups in the early 1960s, following the 1960 Ampo struggle.

A collection of 60 handbills from the Hansen Seinen Iinkai group organized for workers in the mass communications industry.
A collection of 31 handbills produced by the Shinjuku Beheiren chapter in which Furuya Yoshiko was very active. The collection contains many other materials from this Beheiren chapter.

A collection of 105 handbills from various local Beheiren chapters around Japan.

A collection of 9 handbills from the anti-nuclear, anti-war, anti-Ampo movements. Many of the handbills combine the three issues.

A collection of 35 handbills reflecting Furuya Yoshiko’s movement activities in 1979 and 1981. (See also #26, which covers her activity in 1980.)

A collection of 36 handbills from the 1960 Ampo struggle and the early period of Bund (Kyōsanshugisha Dōmei).

A collection of 165 handbills reflecting Furuya Yoshiko’s activity from 1968 to 1983.

A collection of 8 handbills from the second (late 1960s) Sunagawa struggle. Sunagawa is a village at the edge of the Tachikawa U.S. military base, which the U.S. wanted to expand. The movement was in opposition to the base expansion, but also reflected anti-war sentiment at the time.

A set of 33 handbills from a large, joint anti-war, anti-Ampo protest mobilization conducted in 1968 and repeated in 1969, called the June Action. These materials are from the Gomi sub-collection and reflect Gomi Masahiko’s role as an organizer of the mobilization in both years.
A small set of handbills from the Nihon University struggle. These materials are from the Gomi subcollection and have been maintained separately for that reason.

This is a small set of handbills from the Sanrizuka struggle against Narita International Airport. These were also from the Gomi subcollection and have been maintained separately for that reason.

This is a collection of 8 handbills from the early period in 1968-69 when Kyūen Renraku Center was being created. Gomi Masahiko was involved in these activities because of his prior participation in support for students arrested in the 10/8/1967 protests, and these handbills are from his subcollection.
The collection contains the personal effects of several individuals, living and deceased, including many letters that were collected and preserved by their recipients. Personal documents and letters that are not sealed may be utilized for research purposes within the collection, but users are requested to respect the privacy of the corresponding parties and of third parties whose names may appear in correspondence and other documents without their knowledge.

M-Campaign Prison Bulletin Correspondence to Sekishoku Kyūenkai (MOPR)

These are letters and postcards written in 1971 and early 1972 by Sekigunha members who had been arrested for participation in the M Sakusen bank robberies and were beginning their trials. The letters were sent to Sekishoku Kyūenkai (MOPR), the Sekigunha support group, from the various prisons where the M Sakusen bank robbers were being held. There is another set of such M Sakusen letters in the Manuscript collection.

Letters from Katō Michinori to Nagata

This is a set of 21 photocopied letters bound in a booklet that were sent to Nagata Hiroko between 1972 and 1974 by Katō Michinori, who had become involved in Rengō Sekigun as the younger brother of a member of Kakumei Saha, the group Nagata led that joined with Sekigunha to become Rengō Sekigun. His older brother was killed in the Rengō Sekigun purge. He and a younger brother who was a minor at the time were arrested at Asama Sansō and he participated in the separated Rengō Sekigun trial (bunri saiban).

Letters to Furuya Chiari 1

This box contains 80 letters sent to Furuya Chiari using his real name, rather than his pen name Aihara Fumio, between 1950 and 1992. Most are original, but a few are photocopies.
A second box of 87 letters sent to Furuya Chiari, between 1948 and 1989.

This set contains 585 postcards sent to Furuya Chiari and his family from 1947 to 1963.

This set contains 668 postcards sent to Furuya Chiari between 1964 and 1974.

This set contains 695 postcards sent to Furuya Chiari between 1975 and 1992.

This set contains letters sent to Furuya Yoshiko from 1949-1969. They cover the early postwar period up to the peak of the late 1960s protest era. Most are original letters, but a few are photocopies.

A continuation of 16354, this set consists of 95 letters sent to Furuya Yoshiko between 1970 and 1976. They cover the peak to the decline of the protest wave of the late 1960s and early 1970s. Most are originals, but a few are photocopies.

A continuation of Items 16354 and 16355, this set of 92 letters covers correspondence sent to Furuya Yoshiko from 1977 to 1991. Most are originals, and a few are photocopies.
This set contains 740 postcards sent to Furuya Yoshiko between 1948 and 1983.

This set contains five photocopied letters sent from Yoshino Masakuni to Nagata Hiroko between November 1972 and June 1980. Both were on trial for their roles in the Rengō Sekigun Incident and the earlier Imbanuma murders, but Yoshino had chosen to go with the separate trial (bunri saiban) which ended sooner.

This set contains photocopies of four letters from Yoshino Masakuni and Nagata Hiroko to the Tokyo District Court and to one another. At the time both were in Tokyo House of Detention and standing trial for the Rengō Sekigun Incident and the earlier Imbanuma murders. During this period Yoshino asked to be separated from the unified Rengō Sekigun trial and was subsequently tried with a group of secondary participants who were cooperating with the authorities. These materials, bound with a cover, were in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

This is a photocopied set of six letters from Yoshino Masakuni to Ōtsuka Toshihiko written July-September 1978. The bound set of letters was in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident. They were in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

After Karōji Kentarō’s death, Shima Shigeo organized a memorial tribute to him. This set contains 72 postcards containing messages from Karōji’s friends, to be included in the memorial book. They are in the collection because Takazawa Kōji was involved in the editing and publication of the memorial volume. There is another set of materials for this memorial volume in the Manuscript collection.

This set contains Furuya Yoshiko correspondence concerning Korean residents in Japan.
This is a collection of 17 invitations and personal postcards sent to Furuya Yoshiko between 1977 and 1983, from North Korea affiliated organizations concerned with Koreans resident in Japan. The personal postcards are subject to restrictions on their use.

Bandō Kunio’s “Letter to Nagata-san”

This is in the form of a photocopied letter, bound in a booklet. It was prepared by Bandō Kunio to be used as testimony in the Rengō Sekigun appeal trial. One of the lawyers on the defense team, Ōtsu Takuji, went to the Middle East to obtain the document, which has Bandō’s fingerprint on each page as verification that he wrote it. Bandō was originally one of the defendants in the trial, but he was released to the Japanese Red Army (Nihon Sekigun) in 1975 and remained in the Middle East after that. After its use as testimony in the trial, it was subsequently edited by Takazawa Kōji and published as a book, which is also in the collection.

Tomimura support-related letters

This is a collection of 41 letters that were written in connection with the support group activities for Tomimura Jun’ichi, an Okinawan activist who was on trial in Tokyo for an incident at Tokyo Tower. Furuya Yoshiko was a central figure in his support organization and the letters were in her papers. Many of the letters may have been published in the support group’s newsletter.

This box contains 73 photocopied letters from Tomimura Jun’ichi and others. Tomimura Jun’ichi was an Okinawan activist who was arrested and tried in Tokyo for an incident at Tokyo Tower. Furuya Yoshiko was a central figure in his support group, and these letters stem primarily from those activities.

This is a set of 102 letters sent by Tomimura Jun’ichi to various people. Tomimura was a militant Okinawan activist who created an incident at Tokyo Tower for which he was arrested and tried in Tokyo. Most of the letters were written from prison, in which case each page contains the purple censor’s mark. Furuya Yoshiko was a central figure in Tomimura’ support organization and helped edit his writings for publication. These letters were in her papers. Many of these letters have already been published by the support organization, but as with all letters in the Takazawa Collection, their use is restricted.

This set contains twenty letters sent from Terabayashi Makie to Nagata Hiroko in 1972 and 1973. Terabayashi came to Rengō Sekigun through her membership in the Kakumei Saha group that Nagata had led, which merged with Sekigunha to form Rengō Sekigun. She was tried in the separate Rengō Sekigun trial (bunri saiban).

This is a set of 24 photocopied letters bound into a booklet. They were sent to Nagata Hiroko from several Rengō Sekigun participants and associates from Kakumei Saha, the group led by Nagata that combined with Sekigunha to form Rengō Sekigun. These were people who ran away from the group or had limited contact and thus had limited involvement in the trials. Some faced minor charges and others were called as witnesses. The letters were written between December, 1972 and March, 1974.

This is a small set of unused postcards imprinted with Shima Shigeo’s photo. They were in the collection along with other materials from Shima Shigeo.

川島豪からの永田宛書簡
Kawashima Gō kara no Nagata ate shokan
Letters from Kawashima Gō to Nagata

This set contains fifty photocopied letters from Kawashima Gō (Tsuyoshi) to Nagata Hiroko, written between July 1971 and April 1974. Kawashima was the original theoretical leader of Nihon Kyōsantō Kakumei Saha, and Nagata Hiroko served under his leadership but also had personal difficulties with him. After his arrest in 1969 Nagata Hiroko became the member of the organization who visited him in prison and communicated his messages to others, and later she became the head of the organization. Kawashima opposed the merger with Sekigunha that created Rengō Sekigun in 1971, and after the Rengō Sekigun Incident became known he continued to criticize Nagata for having led the organization astray.

Mori Tsuneo, Nagata Hiroko ate shokan
Letters from Mori Tsuneo to Nagata Hiroko

This is a bound set of five photocopied letters that were sent from Mori Tsuneo to Nagata Hiroko when both were in Tokyo House of Detention in 1972. They are in the collection because of Takazawa Kōji’s involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

森恒夫書簡
Mori Tsuneo shokan
Letters from Mori Tsuneo

This set contains five letters sent from Tokyo House of Detention by Mori Tsuneo between October 25, 1972 and December 19, 1972. All contain the prison censor’s
The letters were written during a period when Mori was grappling with his personal responsibility for the Rengō Sekigun purge. The photocopied and bound set was in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his role in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

These letters were written during the last days prior to Mori Tsuneo’s suicide in Tokyo House of Detention on December 31, 1972. Three letters written by Mori and one by Shiomi are copies, and these are included in the published volume of Mori’s final writings. The original letter is from Matsuda Hisashi to Sekishoku Kyūenkai, which was the support organization for Sekigunha members. It was written a few days before Mori’s death, and Matsuda (who was in Tokyo House of Detention awaiting trial for M Sakusen bank robberies) was responding to correspondence he had been having with Mori. He apparently sent the letter to Sekishoku Kyūenkai so that it would be distributed to several people.

This is a bound booklet containing photocopies of the five letters Mori Tsuneo left behind at his death December 31, 1972 in Tokyo House of Detention. These letters have been published in the volume of his posthumously published writings edited by Takazawa Kōji. That volume is also in the collection.

This bound booklet contains two photocopies of two letters sent by Uegaki Yasuhiro from Tokyo House of Detention to his lawyer, Asano Ken’ichi, in 1981 and 1988. They were in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

This is a set of six photocopied letters, bound separately from #16375, but also sent by Uegaki Yasuhiro from Tokyo House of Detention to Asano Ken’ichi, who was one of his lawyers.

This is another booklet of photocopied letters from Uegaki Yasuhiro to lawyer Asano Ken’ichi, which he sent in November 1981.
This bound booklet contains 25 photocopied postcards sent to Nagata Hiroko in Tokyo House of Detention between December 1972 and March 1976. The materials were in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

This is a set of 152 photocopies of telegrams sent to Nagata Hiroko in Tokyo House of Detention between October 1972 and March 1973, bound together in a booklet. Many were sent to her by other prisoners, and these are marked with the censor’s mark. Prisoners in unconvicted detention retained communications privileges unless they were restricted by court order, and telegrams were the fastest way to communicate with prisoners. The materials were in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

This bound booklet contains 89 photocopied telegrams sent to Nagata Hiroko in Tokyo House of Detention between April and December 1973. The materials were in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.

This bound booklet contains 153 photocopied telegrams sent to Nagata Hiroko in Tokyo House of Detention between January 1975 and February 1978. The materials were in Takazawa Kōji’s files because of his involvement in the support organization for the Rengō Sekigun Incident.
This is a photocopy of the journal Rōnō Tsūshin, vol. 24, bound with a cover, that was sent to Nagata Hiroko in Tokyo House of Detention as “sashiire” (items sent into prison, either as gifts or at the request of the prisoner).

This is a set of 30 letters sent to Aihara Fumio between 1953 and 1979. Most are originals. Aihara Fumio was the penname of Furuya Chiari, husband of Furuya Yoshiko.

This box contains 149 letters, both original and photocopied. Most of the materials are correspondence between Aihara Fumio, who was a professional translator, and the authors and publishers abroad with whom he worked. The original correspondence is material he received, including a letter from Gyorgy Lukacs who was answering a query about a translation. The box also includes the original drafts of the letters that Aihara Fumio composed in German to be sent to his correspondents, so that in many cases both sides of the correspondence can be reconstructed. Much of it concerns mundane matters of permissions and payments from publishers. The letters date from 1952 to 1960.

This set contains 418 postcards sent to Aihara Fumio (Furuya Chiari’s pen name) between 1957 and 1988.

This set contains 232 postcards sent to Fujita Tatsuhiko, many under his pen name Takazawa Kōji, between 1969 and 1989.

This set contains 59 letters sent to Takazawa Kōji, some under his real name, Fujita Tatsuhiko, between 1969 and 1987. Some of the letters are originals and others are photocopies.

United Shobo was a bookstore in Kanda that carried a lot of left materials, including ephemeral materials published by New Left groups, and also published some materials. The store was searched in September 1974 and 150 copies of a bomb manual carrying an unrelated innocuous title were confiscated and the owner, Endō Tadao, was charged with violation of Article 4 of the Explosives Control Law. Some manuscripts related to the case were found in Furuya Yoshiko’s materials. The “jikokuhyo” listed in these materials is not a timetable, but the name of a small serial that Unita Shobo published. The serial is in the collection as Serial ID#32.
Through much of the 1970s and 1980s there was a long-running conflict over the construction of Narita International Airport in the Chiba village of Sanrizuka. The New Left became heavily involved in the conflict and many participants were arrested. There are many materials in the Furuya Yoshiko subcollection from the appeal trial in the early 1980s, presumably because Furuya Yoshiko was involved in the support group. Since they are manuscripts, they are included here rather than in the Court Documents section.

This is a copy of Mori Tsuneo’s jikohihansho (self-criticism) that was hand-copied by Nagata Hiroko in prison. There are three parts, in two files. The 1983 date may be when Nagata’s copy was sent out of the prison. The self-criticism was written in 1972 while Mori was in detention and before his suicide on New Year’s eve of that year.

This is a two-part photocopy of Mori Tsuneo’s original self-criticism statement, which was written as a Joshinsho or a statement sent to the authorities by a prisoner. It was circulated to other prisoners. Mori subsequently wrote other self-criticism statements.
永田洋子 Nagata Hiroko

These are the drafts of two 1974 statements to the court by Nagata Hiroko. There are opportunities within a trial for the defendant to make such statements, called “iken chinjutsu.” They are written so they can be included in the court records, but then are read aloud in a court session. The complete court records for this Rengō Sekigun trial are in the court documents in the collection.

Bandō Kunio deposition for the Rengō Sekigun trial. This deposition was taken by his lawyer, Ōtsu, in Lebanon and verified with Bandō’s thumbprint on every page. This photocopy shows the thumbprints.

A four part manuscript written by Bandō Kunio while he was in detention and on trial in Japan. Takazawa Kōji edited the manuscript, which was published in 1975 under the Sashō imprint. The book is in the collection as Item ID #853. Bandō went to the Middle East with Nihon Sekigun in 1975 as the result of the Kuala Lumpur Incident, so the intended second volume was never published.

MOPRsha was the Sekigunha support organization, which took its name from the Japan Communist Party and Comintern support organization Sekishoku Kyūen Iinkai or Red Relief. MOPR is the Russian acronym of the Comintern name for it. Takazawa Kōji was a central member of this group and the collection has many of its documents. Most are sets of letters sent from prison to the organization. Other letters are in the letters section.

Nine sets of letters sent from prison to MOPR, Sekishoku Kyūenkai.

Maps

These are 40 local area maps in the collection that were published in the early 1970s. They are now very useful for research purposes because many place names have changed, and the location of events from that time period cannot be found on more recent maps.

デラックス東京都道路図
Derakkusu Tōkyōto dōrozu
This is a 1971 map of Tokyo, with a detailed map of Tama city on the back.

デラックス長野県道路図
Derakkusu Naganoken dōrozu
This is a 1972 map of Nagano prefecture in west central Japan. The reverse side contains a map of the Chubu region.

レジャー・ドライブ マップ 沖縄
Rejā, doraibu mappu Okinawa
This is a road map of Okinawa from the Takeishi subcollection.

レジャーマップ佐渡
Rejā mappu Sado
This is a 1972 travel map of Sado Island, off the coast of northwestern Japan.

中部地方とその周辺観光案内図
Chūbu chihō to sono shūhen kankō annaiizu
This is a 1972 map of the Chūbu region, the area of central Japan around Nagoya city.

京都市観光案内図
Kyōtoshi kankō annaiizu
This is a 1972 map of Kyoto, in western Japan.

前橋 Maebashi
This is a map of Maebashi, a city in Gumma prefecture near Mr. Haruna, where the Rengō Sekigun purge began.

北海道全図
Hokkaidō zenzu
This is a 1973 map of Hokkaidō.
This is a 1972 map of Chiba, a prefecture in central Japan just east of Tokyo.

This is a 1972 map of Nagoya, the major city in Aichi prefecture, central Japan.

This is a 1972 map of Saitama prefecture, in central Japan just north of Tokyo.

This is a standard local mapbook for Osaka, published in 1968. This particular copy was used by Red Army Faction participants planning what was known as the “Osaka War” (Osaka sensō) in fall, 1969. Neighborhood police substations that were attacked during this incident are marked on the map.

This is a 1972 map of Miyagi prefecture in northeastern Japan.

This is a 1973 map of Toyama, a prefecture in west central Japan.

This is a map of the Tomioka area, published in 1973. Tomioka is a city in Gunma prefecture near Lake Haruna, where the Rengō Sekigun purge began, so places may be found on the map that relate to the incident or the activities of its participants.

This is a 1972 map of Yamagata, a prefecture in northeastern Japan.

This is a 1972 map of Yamanashi, a prefecture in central Japan southwest of Tokyo.
This is a 1973 map of Gifu, a prefecture in central Japan (Chubu region).

This is a 1972 map of Iwate, a prefecture in northeastern Japan.

This is a 1973 map of Kawasaki, an industrial city in central Japan just south of Tokyo.

This is a travel map of Pyongyang from the late 1980s.

This is a 1973 map of Aichi, the prefecture in central Japan whose capital city is Nagoya.

This is a 1973 map of Niigata, a prefecture in northeastern Japan.

This is a 1972 map of Tokyo.

This is a 1972 map of Tochigi, a prefecture in central Japan.

This is a map of Mt. Haruna, which was the location of an early camp used by Rengō Sekigun where the first deaths in the Rengō Sekigun purge occurred. Several locations are circled with a pink fluorescent pen. Although these are relevant locations of Rengō Sekigun activity, the map was published in 1974, two years after the incident, so the map was apparently used for subsequent research rather than by the participants themselves.
This is a 1971 map of the Yokohama area.

This is a 1972 map of Yokohama, with a wider map of the area on the back.

This map, dated 1972, shows Okinawa prefecture on one side and all of Japan on the other. It was apparently published right after Okinawa reverted to Japanese control in 1972, because Okinawa is designated on the map as a prefecture of Japan. This map was in the Aihara-Furuya collection.

This is a 1973 road map of Okinawa, published the year after its reversion to Japan.

This is a 1972 map of Ishikawa, a prefecture in west central Japan.

This is a 1973 map of Kanagawa, a prefecture in central Japan just south of Tokyo.

This is a 1972 map of Fukui, a prefecture in west central Japan.

This is a 1972 map of Fukushima, a prefecture in northeastern Japan.

This is a 1972 map of Akita prefecture in northern Japan.

This is a detailed 1973 map of Tokyo.
This is a 1972 map of Gunma prefecture, where several important sites related to the Rengō Sekigun Incident took place. This was the current map at the time of the incident. There are 2 copies in the collection’s holdings.

This is a 1973 map of Ibaragi, a prefecture in central Japan.

This is a map of Karuizawa, a resort area in Nagano prefecture that was the scene of the Asama Sansō siege and of the arrests of survivors of the Rengō Sekigun purge.

This is a standard commercial map of Okinawa prefecture, which may date from the 1970s or 1980s. One side contains a map of Naha city, while the other side depicts a roadmap of all of Okinawa prefecture. The map was found in the Aihara-Furuya subcollection.

This is a 1972 map of the Kantō area, which includes Tokyo and its environs.

This is a 1972 map of Aomori, a prefecture in northern Japan.

This is a 1972 map of Shizuoka prefecture in central Japan.

MATERIALS FROM OTHER DONORS
高沢氏本人の収集した資料に加え、高沢氏は他の人が収集した社会運動関連の資料も集めました。これらも収集家の許可を得て高沢文庫に含まれています。それらの中には収集家の意向により寄贈者の名前をつけた文書になっているものと匿名のまま高沢文庫に加えられたものとがあります。文書は高沢文庫の時代的・地理的幅、運動の種類をより一層深めるものとなっています。

In addition to the materials in his personal collection, Takazawa acquired smaller collections of social movement materials from several other people. These have been included in the Takazawa Collection with their permission. In some cases these materials are identified as sub-collections from specific donors, while in other instances the donors preferred to remain anonymous. These sub-collections broaden the scope of the Takazawa collection in time, geographic range, and movement variety.
相原・古屋文書　Aihara-Furuya Sub-Collection

相原夫（あいはらふみお）氏は翻訳家、編集者として戦前の日本左翼運動に参加していました。戦後は活動家である氏の妻（古屋能子）とともに社会運動を続け、1960年代・70年代の新左翼運動の支持者となりました。夫妻が世を去ってからは夫妻の家族により書籍、個人的な書類といったものが高沢氏に寄贈され、高沢文庫の相原・古屋文書の名をつけて高沢氏により整理されました。相原古屋文書の資料は相原氏によって日本語に翻訳された戦前のヨーロッパのマルクス主義者の著書が多くあります。相原氏とギョルギ・ルカシュなどの著者たちとの間で交された書簡、相原氏が所有したドイツ語、英語の書籍雑誌の原書なども文庫に含まれています。

古屋能子（ふるやよしこ）氏は1960年代後半の反ベトナム戦争市民運動であるベ平連において活動し、婦人運動においても活動していました。この文庫は氏のベ平連の資料、抗議運動に関する切り抜き資料をはじめ、婦人運動やその他の運動で氏が書いた論文の写しも含んでいます。この文書にある書簡や他の個人資料は2000年に開封されました。

Aihara Fumio was a participant in the prewar Japanese Left who worked as a professional translator and editor. In the postwar era he and his wife, activist Furuya Yoshiko, remained active in social movements and became supporters of the New Left during the 1960s and 1970s. After their deaths, family members gave their books and personal papers to Takazawa Kōji, who subsequently arranged to have them included as a named sub-collection in the Takazawa Collection. The Aihara-Furuya materials contain a number of very early prewar Japanese translations of books by European Marxists that were translated by Aihara Fumio. Some correspondence between Aihara and these authors, such as Gyorgy Lukacs, is also in the collection, along with some German and English originals of books and serials that Aihara owned.

Furuya Yoshiko was active in the Beheiren anti-Vietnam war citizens' movement in the late 1960s, in the women's movement, and in many other social movements. The collection includes her Beheiren materials and clipping files on protest events, as well as copies of articles she wrote on the women's movement and other subjects. Personal papers in this sub-collection were unsealed in the year 2000 but have not yet been catalogued.

Furuya Yoshiko’s Furoshiki

This box contains two furoshiki or wrapping cloths in which some of the materials from the Aihara-Furuya subcollection were wrapped when the Takazawa Collection received them. These cloths were routinely used for wrapping and carrying items until the 1980s, when paper shopping bags became the more stylish alternative. However, many older women still use the handy furoshiki. We have left these in the collection because they may become rarer cultural artifacts in the future. These are not particularly traditional examples—one is actually a French designer cloth—but they were apparently in regular use by Furuya Yoshiko.

書簡集  Letters

The collection contains the personal effects of several individuals, living and deceased, including many letters that were collected and preserved by their recipients. Personal documents and letters that are not sealed may be utilized for research purposes within the collection, but users are requested to respect the privacy of the corresponding parties and of third parties whose names may appear in correspondence and other documents without their knowledge.
This box contains 39 letters sent to Furuya Kimito and other related letters related to the Furuya family.

This box contains 80 letters sent to Furuya Chiari using his real name, rather than his pen name Aihara Fumio, between 1950 and 1992. Most are original, but a few are photocopies.

A second box of 87 letters sent to Furuya Chiari, between 1948 and 1989.

This set contains 585 postcards sent to Furuya Chiari and his family from 1947 to 1963.

This set contains 668 postcards sent to Furuya Chiari between 1964 and 1974.

This set contains 695 postcards sent to Furuya Chiari between 1975 and 1992.

This set contains letters sent to Furuya Yoshiko from 1949-1969. Thus they cover the early postwar period up to the peak of the late 1960s protest era. Most are original letters, but a few are photocopies.

item_ID: 16362
Tomimura tōsō kanren Tomimura Jun’ichi hoka kara no tegami
Letters related to Tomimura tōsō, from Tomimura Jun’ichi and others

This box contains 73 photocopied letters from Tomimura Jun’ichi and others. Tomimura Jun’ichi was an Okinawan activist who was arrested and tried in Tokyo for an incident at Tokyo Tower. Furuya Yoshiko was a central figure in his support group, and these letters stem primarily from those activities.
This is a set of 102 letters sent by Tomimura Jun’ichi to various people. Tomimura was a militant Okinawan activist who created an incident at Tokyo Tower for which he was arrested and tried in Tokyo. Most of the letters were written from prison, in which case each page contains the purple censor’s mark. Furuya Yoshiko was a central figure in Tomimura’ support organization and helped edit his writings for publication. These letters were in her papers. Many of these letters have already been published by the support organization.

This set contains a small collection of unused postcards that had been printed up by the organization Nihon wa Kore de Ii no ka to announce a public meeting. They are in the collection because of Furuya Yoshiko’s involvement with the organization.

This is a set of 30 letters sent to Aihara Fumio between 1953 and 1979. Most are originals. Aihara Fumio was the penname of Furuya Chiari, husband of Furuya Yoshiko.

This box contains 149 letters, both original and photocopied. Most of the materials are correspondence between Aihara Fumio, who was a professional translator, and the authors and publishers abroad with whom he worked. The original correspondence is material he received, including a letter from Gyorgy Lukacs who was answering a query about a translation. The box also includes the original drafts of the letters that Aihara Fumio composed in German to be sent to his correspondents, so that in many cases both sides of the correspondence can be reconstructed. Much of it concerns mundane matters of permissions and payments from publishers. The letters date from 1952 to 1960.

This set contains 418 postcards sent to Aihara Fumio (Furuya Chiari’s pen name) between 1957 and 1988.

United Shobo was a bookstore in Kanda that carried a lot of left materials, including ephemeral materials published by New Left groups, and also published some materials. The store was searched in September 1974 and 150 copies of a bomb manual carrying an unrelated innocuous title were confiscated and the owner, Endō Tadao, was charged with violation of Article 4 of the Explosives Control Law. Some manuscripts related to the case were found in Furuya Yoshiko’s materials. The “jikokuhyo” listed in these materials is not a timetable, but the name of a small serial that Unita Shobo published. The serial is in the collection as Serial ID#32.
Through much of the 1970s and 1980s there was a long-running conflict over the construction of Narita International Airport in the Chiba village of Sanrizuka. The New Left became heavily involved in the conflict and many participants were arrested. There are many materials in the Furuya Yoshiko subcollection from the appeal trial in the early 1980s, presumably because Furuya Yoshiko was involved in the support group. Since they are manuscripts, they are included here rather than in the Court Documents section.

五味雅彦（ごみま さひこ）文書  Gomi Masahiko Sub-Collection

五味雅彦氏は1967年よりノンセクト活動家としてさまざまな抗議運動に参加した早稲田大学の学生で、早稲田大学で米反学連の活動に参加していました。1968年の全国的なエンタプライズ抗議運動の組織だてに貢献し、のちに新左翼の共同組合書店、模索舎を立ち上げるにあたって中心的な人物として活躍しました。この文庫は1960年代後半の主な抗議運動を起こした組織活動の資料やこの時期の出版物からなっています。

Gomi Masahiko was a Waseda University student who participated in various protest movements as a “non-sect” activist from 1967 on, and was involved in the Beihan Gakuren organization at Waseda. He helped organize the nationwide 1968 Enterprise protests, and subsequently was the central figure in the founding of the New Left bookstore cooperative Mosakusha. The collection contains his files from the organization of several major protest events of the late 1960s, as well as publications from this period.

10.10 Haneda tōsō 2 shūnen daitōitsu shūkai Poster_ID: 5
A poster advertising a set of rallies commemorating the second anniversary of the 10/8/67 Haneda struggle, to be held on October 10, 1969 at various locations. It is advertised as being anti-Vietnam war, opposed to Sato’s trip to the U.S, and seeking success in the Okinawa struggle. There are separate rally locations for citizens and Zenkyoto, anti-war, and high school students at noon, plus a joint rally at Meiji Park later in the afternoon.

6・15市民集会 item_ID: 16449
6.15 shimin shūkai Poster_ID: 3
This poster advertises an anti-Vietnam war rally at Hibiya Outdoor Amphitheatre urging high school students to attend the rally. The poster is signed by KōHanKyō, a group organizing high school students in opposition to the war. 6/15 was a key event date of the June Action, and there were major protests on June 15 in both 1968 and 1969, but this is probably from 1968. This poster is from the Gomi sub-collection.

6・15集会/デモ item_ID: 16459
6.15 shukai/demo Poster_ID: 13
A poster advertising a rally and demonstration on 6/15 in conjunction with the June Action opposing the Vietnam war. It describes the demonstration route through downtown Tokyo. The poster is probably from 1968, the first year of the June Action, when 10,000 people conducted at sit-in in the Ginza as part of the 6/15 demonstration.

Another poster for the June Action, advertising events on June 14, 15, and 23.
A poster advertising the June Action in opposition to the Vietnam War. Gomi Masahiko was a main organizer of this series of events.

A poster advertising a rally opposing the Sunagawa base expansion, Sato’s impending trip to the U.S., and the reversion of Okinawa with U.S. bases remaining. Sato traveled to the U.S. in both 1967 and 1969, sparking major protests on both occasions. Although the Sunagawa protests peaked in 1967, the poster appears to be from an event in September, 1969.

This poster advertises an anti-Vietnam war musical concert to be held Tuesday, June 4, 1968.

This poster is put out by the Student June Action Committee. The front side has a dramatic picture and says “Hello 1970” while the back contains the text of an appeal.

A poster advertising protests on Okinawa Day, April 28, opposing 1970 Ampo and the conditions for the return of Okinawa. The poster is probably from 1969, when major protests were organized on this day.

A poster advertising the June Action of 1968 and the June 15 event that was its focal point.

A poster for the June Action against the Vietnam War, put out by the “Revolutionary Designers’ League.”

This is a poster from a citizens’ rally in connection with the Sasebo protests against the port call of the U.S. nuclear submarine Enterprise in January, 1968, from the Gomi collection. This was one of the main rallies and it took place in Kyushu near the Sasebo base.

沈黙は罪！今こそ反戦の声と行動を
Chinmoku wa tsumi! Imakoso hansen no koe to kōdō o
This is a poster produced by Beheiren urging people to speak up against the Vietnam war.

羽田闘争1周年 10・8集会
Haneda tōsō 1shūnen 10.8 shūkai
A poster advertising a rally commemorating the first anniversary of the 10/8/67 Haneda Struggle. The rally was held at Hibiya Outdoor Amphitheatre on 10/8/1968, and was sponsored by the Sunagawa protesters’ league, the Haneda 10/8 Kyūenkai, a Sanrizuka group, and others.
